CI: THE CRIME INVESTIGATORS

We've adapted the theme of crime investigation into an entertaining group format, allowing teams to compete in a creative and exciting activity. With each member proficient in a specific navigational or crime solving skill and using their powers of detection and deduction, teams must work together to navigate their way through a series of crime scenes. Each location is staged as a crime scene where teams must carefully search for clues, preserving and documenting evidence to solve the case. Upon completion, the teams hand in their evidence and receive lab results from the crime lab. Their final challenge is to interpret the meaning of the clues and evidence and attempt to solve the mystery: who has committed this shocking crime!

This event is available anywhere you are getting together as a group. It is a flexible program and can be tailored to all group sizes, locations (indoors and out, urban or resort), times of year, and ability levels. It is also adaptable to many forms of customization in order to fit specific company goals or ideas. Physical prowess is rarely a factor.

THE APPRENTICE

"It takes a special kind of team to work effectively with each other and discover the best way to get strong, winning performances out of everyone. Today, that strong, winning performance will lead one group to victory and earn one deserving team the coveted role of 'The Apprentice'. Your task today is one that has special meaning to me. You will work with your team to build, customize, and create an ad campaign for a line of children's bicycles. I rode a bike once back when I was a child and I know how special it feels to be presented with a bright shiny new bicycle. Today, you can make a child smile. I expect good things from all of you. Don't let me down, or else your team might hear... 'You're FIRED!'"

Working in teams, groups will actually build, custom outfit, and design an ad campaign for high quality children's bikes. Following presentation of select original, innovative and often humorous ad campaigns, the winning team will be crowned 'The Apprentice'. In the following days the bikes will all be donated to a local charity!

There are task alternatives to bike building available upon request. Examples include assembling fishing gear for a kids summer camp, reading stations for a youth literacy program, and "canstruction" for a local food bank. Discuss your vision with us today.

GPS GEOCACHE CHALLENGE

The GPS Geocache Challenge involves teams competing in a high-tech treasure hunt. Teams are given GPS units that are pre-programmed with vital coordinates of each target, called caches. Utilizing the GPS units and team skills, each team collaborates to find these caches, often taking the form of hidden boxes or team challenges. Each cache can vary from the simple to the complex. From finding a critical piece of a puzzle to climbing over a wall, or even using an interesting mode of transport to access a remote place where the cache is hidden.

For each challenge, the team must design a plan, execute it, and reach the final goal without a pre-designated leader. With the aid of the American Outback Hosts, this becomes an amazing opportunity to observe team behavior and to discover what your team needs most to function at the next level. This experiential learning program will also highlight interesting parts of your chosen location and is a lot of fun!

CRIME INVESTIGATORS PARTY INCLUSION

Introducing "The Crime Investigators" party event, specifically designed for inclusion in your annual Christmas Party. This unique event has been designed to run in conjunction with other activities. This event allows your staff to experience the excitement of solving a homicide that has been committed prior to the start of your party. Following an introduction by your emcee or our Crime Investigation Expert, your teams of Crime Investigators will find and collect evidence at their leisure from various crime scene locations within the facility hosting your party. Once collected, blood, fingerprints, correspondence, DNA and other evidence is brought to the on-site Crime Lab. The Crime Lab results must then be pieced together by each team to build a case and justify an arrest warrant proving means, motive and opportunity.
